The earth is alive
The sky is calm
The wind whistles by
And there is red dripping down

There is nothing that can be done now

You Have Been Led Into a Life of Violence But Your Eight-Year Old Self Didn't Know That

You stand in the dark
Wet, red, smelling of iron
And you wish
You had never picked up that axe

The Demons From My Past Are The Friends I Left Behind

In a sleep paralysis episode
I find you over my bed
Asking
If I'm happy yet
